It is in the interest of the American people and the world economy to settle the Microsoft antitrust suit. Our economy needs for this issue to be put behind us. Our country needs the funds to continue the Anti-terrorism fight, not litigation costs. Microsoft needs to use their funds to continue researching and developing technology, not litigation costs.

If the other companies could offer the technology Microsoft has developed, you can bet they would have done so. It's sour grapes and let's move on.
